UNTOWARD CIRCUMSTANCES CAUSE OF TROUBLE FOR INNOCENT MAN

R. H. Campbell of North Charleroi Maintains He Did Not Even Make Remark He is Said to Have Made

Untoward circumstances in which he had no part are blamed by R. H. Campbell, a young insurance man of North Charleroi for placing him in a decidedly embarrassing predicament. This afternoon Mr. Campbell is to undergo a hearing for complicity in the removal of an automobile from the garage of P. C. Teeple of Monongahela.

"I have no fear of the outcome of that hearing," said Mr. Campbell this morning smiling. "Of course there is no evidence against me and couldn't be and just in what way they ever attached my name to the affair is a problem."

Mr. Campbell denies that he made any remarks, even jokingly about burning up his car. This was a report that was circulated Monday as being the source of his innocent association with the affair. That he is innocent of wrongdoing is the opinion of Monongahela people.

REPUBLICANS MAP THEIR CAMPAIGN

Headquarters Opened at Washington—Many Candidates Are on Hand

TWO CONFERENCES ARE HELD

No formal program marked the opening of the Republican headquarters in the vacant room of the old Citizens National bank building in South Main street Washington Monday evening. The room was thrown open to the Republicans of the county and their friends and exceeding informally marked the proceeding.

Several hundred followers of the Republican faith, from every section of Washington county were present. County Chairman Joseph T. Hemphill was in charge of whatever ceremony there was. Many members of the executive committee and the majority of the Republican candidates successful or unsuccessful at the September primary, were in attendance. From this on until the evening of election day, November 2 much of the interests in the fall campaign will center in this building.

Monday morning all of the Republican candidates were present at a conference held at headquarters in charge of Chairman Hemphill. The plans for the remaining three weeks were talked over and slight changes and improvements made. A similar conference was held in the afternoon at which the members of the executive committee were present.

As a result of the sessions the campaign plan is now practically complete and nothing remains but to put it into execution.

NIMRODS PREPARING FOR HUNTING SEASON

Applications for License Numerous—Friday, October 15 to See the Beginning of Hunting Season

Hunters in this section are showing increasing interest in their preparedness for the season during the last few frigid days. Application for license are becoming numerous and there will probably be a particularly large number of nimrods hereabouts. Friday, October 15, brings in the hunting season and as in other years there will a rush for the fields and woods. The state law requires those who go in search of game to take out a license and the number must be worn on the sleeve of the person securing the license. A resident license costs $1 and a non-resident license $10. They may be had from the county treasurer or from a justice of the peace.

Beginning with the 15th, squirrels, English pheasants, quail,uffed grouse, blackbirds and wild turkeys may be killed until November 30. The rabbit season is confined to the month of November. Elk are protected until 1921 while the deer season lasts only from December 1 to December 15.

The last session of the legislature authorized the printing of 100,000 copies of a pamphlet containing the game, fish and forestry laws of the state. These may be obtained upon application at the time the license is taken out.

RIGHTS OF NEGRO IN THEATRE ARE DEFINED

Superior Court Holds That Colored People May be Segregated in Selected Section if Desired by Theatre Owner—Case From Harrisburg

The right of a negro to sit in any part of a theatre he may select, on payment of admission, was denied by the Superior Court at Philadelphia Monday. The decision, was filed by Judge Kephart in the suit of the Commonwealth against Athens George appellant, from the Quarter Sessions Court of Dauphin county.

George, who owns a theatre in Harrisburg, having a main floor and a balcony, had a notice posted that the balcony was for negro patrons and if they did not desire to sit up there they should not buy tickets. The original prosecutor purchased tickets for himself and another negro and when he was directed to go upstairs he left the theatre.

The Superior Court holds to the general principle that the lower court should have admitted as evidence the testimony offered by the theatre owner that the balcony seats were just as desirable under the ticket purchase as the seats on the main floor. If that evidence would show that they were as desirable, then the prosecutor has not been injured, the court ruled. A new trial of the case was ordered.

CLUB STEWARDS ARE RELEASED

Parole Which Lasted for Two Years at an End—Conditions Severe

DEFENDANTS ALL COMPLY

John Fenton, steward of the Loyal Order of Moose, at California John Cozen, steward of the Fraternal Order of Bears, at Meadowlands, and Edward Holmes, steward of the Royal Order of Lions, of Washington, were Monday upon motion of District Attorney R. G. Miller, finally discharged from the parole under which they had been for the past two years.

The defendants were arrested at the time information was made against a number of the clubs of the county for alleged violation of the liquor laws, in the manner in which liquor was sold at the grills of the various clubs. All the defendants, including these three, were paroled under very severe conditions laid down, and under certain rules as to how the sideboards in these clubs were to be conducted.

District Attorney Miller stated to the court that these defendants had complied with the conditions of their parole. The court informed the defendants that their discharge did not mean they were to go out now and do what the parole conditions did not allow them to do heretofore.

James Hayes, Charged With Forgery Must Spend at Least Two Years in Prison

CAUGHT BY LOCAL POLICE

Arrest Made at Finleyville After Man Had Escaped the Vigilance of Police All Along Valley North of Here.

James Hayes, with many other aliases, charged with forgery, entered a plea of guilty Monday before Judge McIlwaine. He was given an indeterminate sentence in the penitentiary of from two years to five years, with a fine of $1 and costs. The court first sentenced him to pay the costs, fine of $1 and to undergo imprisonment in the work house for a year and six months. The defendant asked that he be given a penitentiary sentence instead of to the workhouse. Judge McIlwaine readily accommodated him and added on six months. Hayes did not appear to object, thanking the court very graciously.

Hayes is also known as John Hart, Samuel Kerr and J. B. Hallman, among others. He is believed to be an expert in the kind of work he was carrying on. When arrested he had in his possession check books, some of the checks made out and signed. He had secured money on three checks at Monongahela and on one at Charleroi. Two of the checks were on the Dollar Savings & Trust Co. of Youngstown, O. One was payable to E. C. McCullough and was cashed by O. P. Glasser, hotel proprietor of Monongahela. It was for $15.

A second was payable to bearer and signed by John Hart. It was also cashed by Mr. Glasser and was for $5. A third was on the Citizens National of Evans City, payable to John Hart and signed by W. C. McWilliams. It was cashed by Oppenheim Bros., Monongahela and was for $8.50. A fourth was on the First National of Webster, was signed by James Maxwell, and for $5.

The defendant's excuse was that he had been drinking and was not responsible for what he was doing. The court informed him that he was starting on a very serious course of crime, and the fact that he had cashed several forged checks made the case against him more aggravated.

Hayes was arrested by Chief of Police C. W. Albright and Policemen James Murphy of Charleroi at Finleyville, they having traced him there by shrewd detective work. He was taken from his room in a hotel at the point of a revolver and handcuffed. After being held here a day and having his hearing he was taken to Monongahela from which point he was sent to jail at the county seat.

MOTOR ACCIDENTS

The Boston Transcript has a sensible editorial on the problem of how to lessen motor accidents. It calls attention to the tremendously increased road traffic due to the widespread use of motor vehicles and that usually the motorist who is the subject of proposed rules and laws. But it insists that prevention rather than punishment should be the aim and this being so, that the question of what can be done to save the pedestrian should be considered, remarks the Washington Observer.

In Massachusetts the highway commission has suggested that licenses of habitual drinkers should be held up until they sign the pledge and that licenses of habitual speeders should be suspended. The Transcript says this is good as far as it goes, but that it who constantly drives in a reckless does not go far enough. It continues:

"The habitual drinker and the man in a hurry ought not to have licenses under any circumstances; they are a positive menace to the community. As for more vigorous prosecution of appealed cases by district attorneys, most of the cases not pressed are merely for speeding without particularly dangerous circumstances. But they should of course, be prosecuted as in any other form of crime."

A flat speed limit of twenty-five miles an hour, the Transcript feels, would do more harm than good. At present there is a limit of twenty miles in Massachusetts and the increase to twenty-five miles would be taken by the majority of drivers who are now content to drive under twenty miles.

A permit to speed up. In the district where most people are in danger there would be a higher average speed and more accidents, for it is in the city streets that most of the accidents happen. "Speed alone," says the Transcript, "is not the vital factor in the situation," and continues:

"One thing that is required is the education of the public to take care of itself when it walks in dangerous places. And the streets, there is no gainsaying, are dangerous. The pedestrian may have as much right in the street as the motor car, but if the two come together the pedestrian is the one that suffers. This being so, it is reasonable to try to prevent the pedestrian from placing himself in a dangerous position. In some of the western and southern cities there are laws against so-called 'jay-walking' and people who cross the streets at other than the regular crossings are liable to arrest. Almost everywhere it is the custom to put up signs directing motorists to drive carefully near school houses. This is right, but such earnings ought to be supplemented by instructions to the school children of the great dangers of playing in the streets and roads. And older people should be made to realize that it is far more dangerous to step without looking into a much travelled roadway than to step carelessly upon a railroad track."

The Transcript thus advocates a two-fold movement to lessen motor accidents. It would have the state keep out of motor vehicles people who are not fitted to drive them by reason of addiction to liquor or a congenial recklessness and at the same time would have the public educated to the dangers of the highways, particularly in reference to automobiles. Certain these programs, effectively carried out, could not fail to diminish the appalling fatalities and injuries due to the great increase in the number of motor vehicles.

Some system should be arranged for the earliest publication annually of the auditor's statement of thorough financials. The report has not yet been presented to council and consequently has not been given to the public. The auditor's report is purely for purposes of comparison to enable council in the first place, to intelligently carry out thorough searches, and in the second place to inform the public properly as to the condition of affairs. It is a necessary instrument in the bookkeeping of the borough but when delayed long it loses much of its value.

True the roses of June are only a memory and fields will soon be turning bare and growing out the frost that crimson the maple leaves is also "the pumpkin," says an exchange. Farmers who have begun to husk them say the crop will be a bumper one—and of you pick! Life is still worth living.

"The time to combat Jack Frost is before he arrives," sensibly remarks an exchange. If we fail to take care of what we have, we are bound to be losers. If we leave our awnings out all winter, next spring we'll have to buy new. If we don't protect our water pipes we'll have to pay heavy plumber's bills. If we don't cover our geraniums prettily planted in our back yards, or do not protect our summer bushes that lately looked so pretty, we will feel our loss. Carelessness invites destruction.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"I'll give that waiter," said a customer in a quick-lunch room, "an order that will simply paralyze him."

"What will you have, sir?" presently asked the waiter.

"Bring me," said he would be tormentor, "some verulam and ova."

"Yessir." And the waiter, a seedy-looking man, went away with a twinkle in his eye and returned with a large plate of something hot.

"Here y'are," he said. "Eggs and bacon. In ordinary English a shilling but in classic form three-and-six. Verba, rebus aptare, as we used to say at colleg. Anything else, sir?"

"Tit-Bits."

A freckle-faced girl stopped at the postoffice and yelled out:

"Anything for the Murphys?"

"No there is not."

"Anything for Jane Murphy?"

"Nothing."

"Anything for Ann Murphy?"

"No."

"Anything for Tom Murphy?"

"No."

"Anything for John Murphy?"

"No, not a bit."

"Anything for Terry Murphy?"

"No, nor for Pat Mrphy, nor Denis Murphy, nor Peter Murphy, nor Paul Murphy, nor for any Murphy, dead, living, unborn, native or foreign, civilized or uncivilized, savage or barbarous, male or female, black or white naturalized or otherwise soldier or citizen. No there is positively nothing for any of the Murphys, either individually, jointly, severally now and for ever, one and inseparable."

The girl looked at the postmaster in astonishment. "Please," she said, "will you see if there is anything for Bridget Murphy?"

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to section eight of article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:

Amend section eight, article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenues in excess of the interest on said debt or debts, and the annual installments necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be extended in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to incur otherwise indebtedness: Provided, That a sinking fund of their cancellation shall be established and maintained," so that it shall read as follows:

Section 8. The debt of any county, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which on the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, exceeded seven per centum of such assessed valuation, and has not since been reduced to less than such per centum, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation. The city of Philadelphia, upon the conditions hereinafter set forth, may increase its indebtedness to the extent of three per centum in excess of seven per centum upon such assessed valuation for the specific purpose of providing for all or any of the following purposes, to wit: For the construction and improvement of subways, tunnels, and other transit facilities; for the construction and improvement of wharves and docks and for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves and docks, owned or to be owned by said city. Such increase, however, shall only be made with the assent of the electors thereof at a public election, to be held in such manner as shall be provided by law. In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of said city of Philadelphia at any time, there shall be excluded from the calculation a credit, where the work resulting from any previous expenditure, for any one or more of the specific purposes hereinabove enumerated shall be yielding to said city an annual current net revenue; the amount of which credit shall be ascertained by capitalizing the annual net revenue during the year immediately preceding the time of such ascertainment. Such capitalization shall be accomplished by ascertaining the principal amount which would yield such annual current net revenue, at the average rate of interest, and sinking-fund charges payable upon the indebtedness incurred by said city for such purposes, up to the time of such ascertainment. The method of determining such amount, so to be excluded or allowed as a credit, may be prescribed by the General Assembly.

In incurring indebtedness, for any one, or more of said purposes of construction, improvement, or reclamation, the city of Philadelphia may issue its obligations maturing not later than fifty years from the date thereof, with provision for a sinking-fund sufficient to retire said obligation at maturity, the payments to such sinking-fund to be in equal or graded annual installments. Such obligations may be in an amount sufficient to provide for and may include the amount of the interest and sinking-fund charges accruing and which may accrue thereon throughout the period of construction and until the expiration of one year after the completion of the work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred; and said city shall not be required to levy a tax to pay said interest and sinking-fund charges, as required by section ten of article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, until the expiration of said period of one year after the completion of such work.

CREATORE'S BAND AT EXPOSITION

Final Attraction at Pittsburgh Show Is Pleasing

Creatore and his wonderful Italian concert band are at the Pittsburgh Exposition this week, presenting four superb concerts each day and making a fitting close to the season of 1915 for this great institution of western Pennsylvania. With Creatore is Mme. Bernaba, a noted Italian soprano soloist, and the first vocal soloist to appear with this great band in Pittsburgh. In addition, Creatore has a score of special instrumentalists in his band. The result of this attraction is already showing in the heavy attendance at the Point buildings and the presentation of some of the most elaborate musical programs in the history of the Exposition.

The Pittsburgh Exposition is rounding out its twenty-seventh year with this season, which closes Saturday night. At no time have there been more interesting and comprehensive displays and exhibits than this year. The Baltimore and Ohio exhibit is one of the most valued, and most important ever shown, and one that will not easily be seen again. The government exhibit, with its mint coin machines operating, its splendid showing of irrigation work, of engraving and printing bureaus and mine bureau equipment, and the intensely absorbing display of the United States Veterans of Foreign Service are diversiattractions in the big buildings are all of a high character and educational as well as entertaining and amusing.

So important is the Exposition this year that on Saturday, the closing day, all railroads entering Pittsburgh will run special Exposition excursions for the last day. Some of these excursions will come all the way from Baltimore. Up to the very last moment of the week, the closing hour on Saturday night, every attraction and exhibit will be maintained intact and even in better form than when the Exposition season opened. This assures the closing day visitors every feature of the Exposition, with probably the largest crowds of the season in attendance.

Thousands will go to hear Creatore during the present week because he is recognized as the greatest Italian bandmaster and one of the most remarkable musicians in the world. He is one of those leaders who electrifies his audience and keeps it strung to the highest pitch continually during a concert. He has the most wonderful memory of any director, never referring to a score during any concert, though he presents some of the most difficult and most intensely absorbing works of musical literature. Creatore is worthy of more than ordinary attention and he means a splendid musical treat for those admiring the purest types of Italian music as well as artistic compositions of all schools.

Regulating Electric Lamps.

The demand for regulating the degree of light from an electric lamp has resulted in a lamp which has been recently exploited, containing two separate filaments of the lamp, which may be operated separately or together, giving the lamp a rating of 200 watts, with each filament taking 100 watts. A consumption of 0.6 watt per candlepower is claimed for this lamp, and it has a life of 2,000 hours if the filaments are burned separately, or 1,000 hours if they are burned together.

Dr. Osler on Tuberculosis

Sir William Osler, one of the foremost of living medical men, formerly of Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, and now Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford, says in his "Practice of Medicine" (1922), on page 249:

"The healing of pulmonary tuberculosis is shown clinically by the recovery of patients in whose sputa elastic tissue and bacilli have been found. In the granulations produced and associated pneumonia a scar tissue is formed, while the smaller caseous areas become impregnated with lime salts. To such conditions alone should the term healing be applied."

Many eminent medical authorities have testified to the efficacy of lime salts in the treatment of tuberculosis, and the success of Osler's Alternative in this and allied throat and bronchial affections may be due partly to the fact that it contains a lime salt combined with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated.

Unquestioned use of this remedy in numerous cases of tuberculosis, none of which appear to have yielded completely to it—justifies our belief that it is worth a trial, unless some other treatment already is succeeding. It contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs. We make no promises concerning it any more than reputable physicians give, promises with their prescriptions, but we know of many cases in which it HAS HELPED.

PRINCE ALBERT

is such good tobacco you feel like you could just eat the smoke!

Yes, sir, P. A. puts a razor edge on your smoke-appetite-division that's nobby enough to be photographed! No other pipe and cigarette tobacco can be like Prince Albert, because no other tobacco can be made like Prince Albert. The patented process fixes that—and removes the tongue-bite and throat parch! Let that digest!

And that line of conversation is 24 kt., whether you play P. A. in your old jimmy pipe or roll it into a makin's cigarette.

For you can put your little old blue-pencil O. K. right here that Prince Albert is a regular double-header for a single admission—as joy'us to your tongue and taste one way as the other!

Will the "rollers" kindly step forward for a spell and get some of this listen into their systems? Because Prince Albert certain and sure jams more joy into a makin's paper than ever before was figured up on two hands!

In the plain language of the hills, you can't any more resist such makin's tobacco than a bullfrog can pass up a piece of red flannel! Because P. A. hands to you everything any cigarette roller ever dreamed-out—rare flavor, and aroma, and mildness, and body; absolutely the best bet—the best smoke you or any other man ever did roll and put the fire to! Men, we tell you to wise up.

P. A. is crimp cut and stays put—which means rolling P. A. is as easy as falling off a log. And it's good to remember P. A. is put up in the tippy red bag especially for you "rollers." Sells for the price of a jitney ride, 5c.

Now, will the "pipers" kindly open both ears?

Here's tobacco that has made it possible for three men to smoke pipes where one smoked before!

Any way you hook it up, Prince Albert is tobacco insurance! Yes, sir, it guarantees your future as well as your present smokings! And just makes your tongue so jimmy pipe joy'us that your smoke appetite grows whopping big. You men who "dassn't," we say you go to P. A., natural-like! Because there isn't a bite in a barrel of this national joy smoke.

Unlimber your old jimmy pipe! Dig it out of the dark corner, jam it brimful of P. A. And make fire with a match! Me-o-my!

You get acquainted with Prince Albert in the tippy red bag, 5c; or tippy red tin, 10c, but for the double-back-action-joy, you buy a crystal-glass pound hamidor. And then you're set! You see, it has the sponge-moistener top and keeps P. A. at the highest top-notch point of perfection. Prince Albert is also sold in pound and half-pound tin hamidors.

Forces to Be Destroyed.

The forces of nature we must endeavor to avoid. Working blindly as they do we can do nothing to overcome them. At most we can avoid their destructive influence and alleviate the suffering they give rise to. But the forces that are thrust out by ourselves, that spring from our own minds, must be controled and overcome. They are primitive. They are brutal. They are animal forces. Against these we must direct our energies.

Unwilling to Impose on the Lord.

A Medicine of Merit.
A proprietary medicine, like everything else that comes before the public, has to prove its merits. The law of the survival of the fittest applies in this field as in others. The reason for the tremendous success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is because it has been fulfilling a real human need for forty years, so that today thousands of American women owe their health and happiness to the marvelous power of this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs—nature's remedy for woman's ills.
